Hatcher opened the exercises with a short prayer, and was followed by several speakers who presented the different phases of college activities, and urged the freshmen to take an active part in all. departments. The first speaker, E. A. Burgess, was introduced by C. O. Bianton, president of the Y. M. C. A. He spoke in the interests of the Randolph-Macon Monthly. J. R. Worsham, the business manager of the Yellow Jacket, explained to the new men the way the annual is published, and wherein they could help the staff make a success of the book. The two literary societies were represented by their presidents, E. P. Nicholson, for the Franklin Literary Society, and A. J. Chapman, for the Washington Literary Society, Charles Lee and C. T. Sheffey rendered a violin anr mandolin duet. Dr. L. F. Day, faculty member of the athletic board, had the matter of general athletics as his subject. The captains of the various teams each made a short address. J. A. Chapman, captain of the football team. urged the freshpien to come out on the gridiron and help build another championship football team. In the absence of Captain Wroe, of the baseball team, Manager Worsham spoke. The basketball captain, W. E. Jordan, made a short talk on basketball. Dr. I F. Lewis spoke in behalf of the tennisciub, and sald arrangements were being made to hold one or two tournaments next spring. Coach Warren was loudly applauded when he was called on for a speech. He seconded Captain Chapman in urging every man to come out and try for the team. The list speaker was Dr. Hatcher, who had the Y. M. C. A. as his subject.
